

Tau Beta Pi Service & Engineering Fellowship Program

TBP is looking to sponsor students wishing to pursue a service engineering project this coming summer. The purpose of this program is to support students who seek to apply their engineering and technological understanding to better society, both domestic and abroad. Successful fellows should be prepared to guide a student-led project that can leave behind lasting, sustainable benefits for a community. The work may be arranged with non-governmental or inter-governmental organizations and other community-conscious groups. Students of all disciplines are welcome.

Applications for these fellowships are due on April 22, 2013. This summer, we are seeking to award up to five fellowships with up to US $5000 each.

The following documents must be received by April 22, 2013 at 11:59 PM:

- Cover page consisting of the applicant's name, contact information, class year, major, and project title.
- Brief abstract (under 200 words) detailing the project description and objectives.
- Proposal (under 2000 words) describing community needs, project aims, timeline, technical approaches, anticipated impacts, and personal motivations/qualifications.
- Proposed budget, including any other sources of support (applied or confirmed).
- Letter of recommendation from an MIT faculty member who is familiar with both the applicant's character and project and can attest to his/her integrity and ability.
- Letter of interest from any organization concerned (if applicable).
- Resume.

The TBP Service & Engineering Fellowship Program has the following requirements:

- All aspects of the project requiring funding must be completed by the end of Summer 2013
- Each fellow must submit a 3-5 page written report that includes multiple pictures of his/her project upon completion.
- Each fellow must be prepared to present his/her accomplishments at the Tau Beta Pi Fellowship Forum (at MIT, date to be announced).
- Relevant receipts/proofs of payment totaling the awarded sum must be submitted by the end of the summer.
- TBP reserves the right to reclaim all awarded funds if the above requirements are not fulfilled.

Interviews will be conducted between April 27th - 28th, 2013. Final decisions will be made by May 1.
